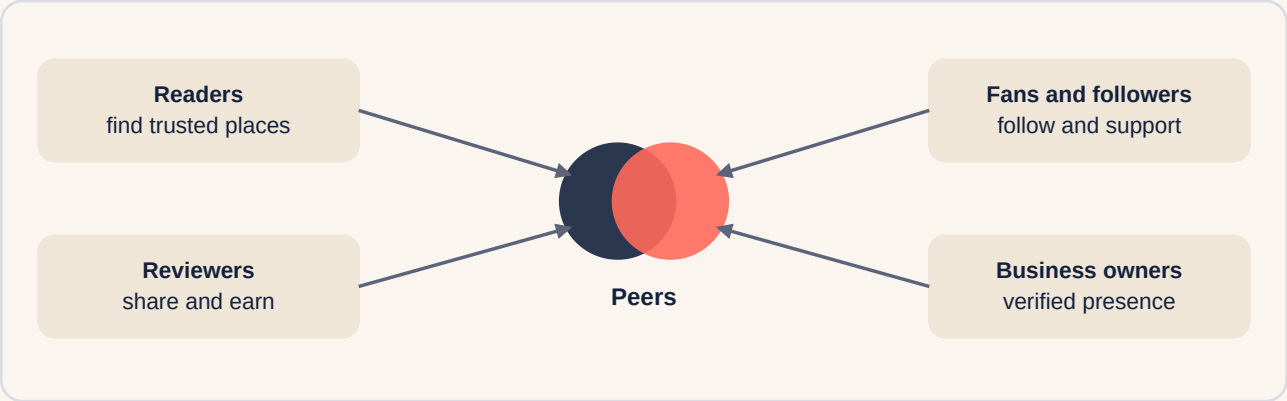
SECTION 1

Summary

Peers is a worldwide platform where people share honest, verified experiences with food, travel, and products.

Users find restaurants, cafes, hotels, tours, and products through people they trust, and can buy products through Peers Market. Reviewers, followers, and business owners all benefit from the trust and activity they create. Food and travel come first, with products and Peers Market following in phase 2.



SECTION 2

Vision

Make trustworthy recommendations the default in a world where AI-generated content and fake reviews are increasingly common.

Long-term goal: A global, searchable record of verified human experience, where every recommendation can be traced to someone who actually went, stayed, ate there, or bought it.

Where it started
While studying in Taiwan during COVID, the founder sold used university books on Shopee and helped other Indonesian students sell theirs. It showed how much a buyer depends on trust in the seller and the listing.

SECTION 3

Problem

- Reviews are scattered across Google Maps, Tripadvisor, Instagram, and TikTok, so people rarely see a complete picture.
- Fake reviews, paid posts, and AI-written content make it hard to know what is real.
- Food, travel, and shopping are researched together, but most platforms treat them separately.
- Creators who make useful recommendations rarely earn fairly from them.
- Businesses have little control over how their experience is represented, and honest reviews are sometimes removed.
- Product listings are often unclear or inflated, and small makers struggle to be found and trusted.

SECTION 4

Core principles

1	Honest reviews stay up A review is never rejected or removed for being negative. Only inappropriate content can be reported and removed.
2	Verified experience Verified reviews show proof of experience. Unverified reviews are never shown as verified.
3	Transparency Sponsored, affiliate, and paid relationships are always labeled.
4	Human-first AI can translate, organize, and recommend, but never writes, edits, or fabricates reviews.
5	Earn from value, not praise Affiliate and reward payouts depend on qualifying actions, never on star ratings or positive wording.
6	One platform, three categories Food, travel, and products share one identity, trust system, and social graph. Products arrive in phase 2.

SECTION 5

Users

Who	What they need
Readers	Anyone looking for a place to eat or stay. "Is this worth it, according to someone who actually went?"
Reviewers and creators	A home for their food and travel experiences, followers who value them, and fair earnings.
Followers and fans	A feed from people they trust, and an optional way to support them directly.
Business owners	Restaurants, cafes, hotels, and tour operators who want an honest, verified presence and a way to reach loyal customers.

One person can hold several roles. A cafe owner can also review travel experiences.

SECTION 6

Social model: follow, followers, and fans

- Follow: Anyone can follow anyone, for free.
- Followers: The people who follow a user, and see their posts in their feed.
- Fans: An optional supporter tier with perks such as early access to recommendations or exclusive collections. Fans never change how reviews rank. (assumption)
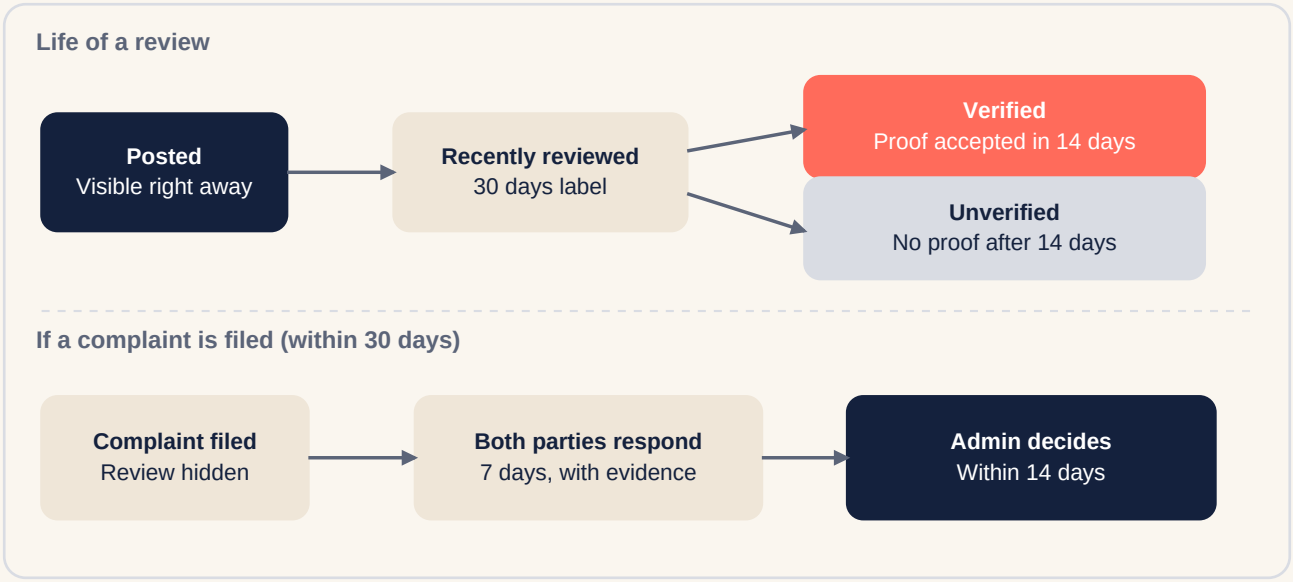
- Business owners have public pages that can be followed the same way.

SECTION 7

Review states and reader feedback



Review states

- Recently reviewed: A new review is published immediately with this label, visible to everyone. It lasts 30 days.
- Verified: Proof was accepted within 14 days. The label shows the proof type, for example "Verified: receipt".
- Unverified: No proof was accepted within 14 days. The review stays up, labeled Unverified, and is never shown as verified.

Reader feedback

- Thumbs up or down: Any signed-in user can mark a review as helpful or not. Counts are shown beside the review.
- Report: Any user can report a review as inappropriate (harassment, spam, personal data). Moderators review it and can remove it.

Complaints and disputes

- A business or reviewer who believes a review is unfair can file a complaint within 30 days of posting.
- Both parties respond with evidence (7 days), then a platform admin decides (within 14 days).
- While a complaint is open, the review is hidden from the public and visible only to the reviewer. If it stands, it returns to public view with the outcome noted.

SECTION 8

Verification

Location	Booking	Receipt	Owner	Peers
check-in	confirmation	photo	confirmation	order

- Location check-in: Made within a set radius of the place, at the time of the visit.
- Booking confirmation: Hotel, tour, or restaurant booking, with personal details redacted.
- Receipt: Food or travel purchase, with merchant, date, and amount visible. Personal details are redacted.
- Owner confirmation: The business confirms the visit.
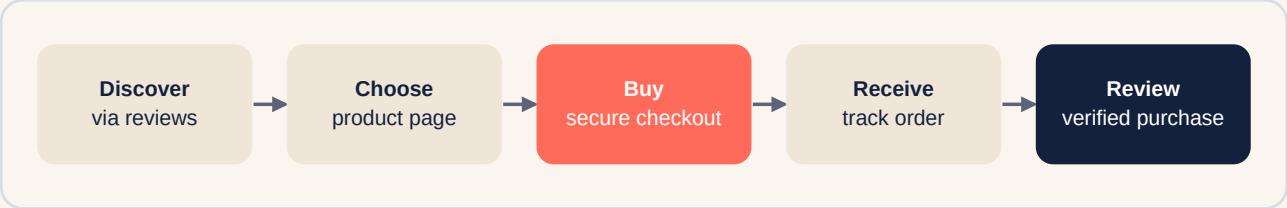
- Peers order: A product bought through Peers Market is verified automatically and shows "Verified purchase".

Proof is checked automatically where possible and by a moderator otherwise. Proof is stored privately and never shown publicly. Proof checks never remove or hide a review.

SECTION 9

Peers Market

Peers Market is where you can buy the products you have seen reviewed on Peers. It arrives in phase 2.



What customers can expect

- Verified reviews first. Every product page shows reviews with their state and badge. Products bought through Peers show Verified purchase.
- Honest reviews. Sellers can reply but cannot edit or remove reviews.
- Clear product information. Listings are prepared to be accurate, with real photos and honest descriptions.
- Support. If something goes wrong with an order, you contact Peers, not just the seller.
- Fair returns. Return and refund requests follow a clear process (see Section 19).

Example product categories

Stationery, handmade gifts and crafts, small-brand fashion, and packaged snacks. Categories with special rules, such as food, get their own safety and return rules before they open. (assumption)

How it starts

- Phase 2 begins with curated sellers and partner checkout links.
- In-app checkout and order tracking inside Peers come in phase 3.

SECTION 10

The Peers family

One name, with each part doing a clear job.

- Peers: The platform for verified reviews, check-ins, collections, and community.
- Peers Market: The shop for products you have seen reviewed, with verified purchase reviews.
- Peers Studio: Behind the scenes, helps small sellers prepare accurate listings and answer customer questions, so what you buy matches what you see.
- Peers Fulfillment: A possible later service for packing and delivery. (assumption)

Long-term ambition: a company with both a platform (software) and a studio (services), growing in stages like the large commerce platforms.
